Mandatory High Heels Feb 23 2022 Award-winning journalist Froma Harrop believes in America but doesn't view it through rose-colored glasses. While Americans value equality, opportunity and justice, they also value profit and tradition. The key to solving our country's and planet's most urgent problems, therefore, is almost always reasonable progress, not someone's idea of perfection. Harrop dissects issues with straight talk and a fresh perspective, always pointing to the bigger picture and asking us to pay attention to what's really worth fighting for: Democrats should've passed on the national obsession that was impeachment and gone for the prize: replacing President Donald Trump. Feeding innovation is better than banning fossil fuels. Time's up for mandatory high heels in the workplace, but the tide will only turn if the fashion world decides so, and if more women demand comfort in their footwear. Read Harrop's takes on headlines from A to Z in this collection of her syndicated columns from 2019.

High Heel Aug 20 2021 Best Fifteen Books of March 2019, Refinery29 Best Nonfiction Books of 2019, Paste Magazine Object Lessons is a series of short, beautifully designed books about the hidden lives of ordinary things. Fetishized, demonized, celebrated, and outlawed, the high heel is central to the iconography of modern womanhood. But are high heels good? Are they feminist? What does it mean for a woman (or, for that matter, a man) to choose to wear them? Meditating on the labyrinthine nature of sexual identity and the performance of gender, High Heel moves from film to fairytale, from foot binding to feminism, and from the golden ratio to glam rock. Summer Brennan considers this most provocative of fashion accessories as a nexus of desire and struggle, sex and society, violence and self expression, setting out to understand what it means to be a woman by walking a few hundred years in her shoes. Object Lessons is published in partnership with an essay series in The Atlantic.
