Graciliano Ramos and the Making of Modern Brazil Jul 28 2022 Graciliano Ramos and the Making of Modern Brazil brings updated criticism in English on the work of the prominent Brazilian writer Graciliano Ramos (1892–1953), a key figure in understanding the making of modern Brazil. Building on existing literature, this book innovates through chapters that consider issues such as Ramos’s dialogue with literary tradition, his cultural legacy for contemporary writers, and his treatment of racial discrimination and gender inequality through the multifarious, provocative and enduringly fascinating characters he created. The volume also addresses the question of Ramos’s political involvement during the years of the Getulio Vargas government (1930–45), to revisit established readings of the author’s politics. Through close reading of individual works as well as comparative analyses, this volume takes readers into the complexities of modernisation in Brazil, and highlights the writer’s significance for our understanding of Brazil today.

Insônia Feb 20 2022 Clássico de um dos maiores escritores da literatura brasileira, autor de Vidas secas e S. Bernardo. Esta obra reúne treze contos de Graciliano Ramos, em que estão presentes a segura emotiva e a economia vocabular, características estilísticas do autor, que convivem com a precisão psicológica. Neste livro, Graciliano amplia os cenários em que seus personagens interagem, inserindo-os no mundo da cidade, no qual os dilemas do ser humano são tratados a partir dos medos e inseguranças de seus protagonistas com problemas próprios das urbes, como a violência, a fragilidade dos relacionamentos estabelecidos e o progresso atroz e irreversível do concreto armado.

Translation and Circulation of Migration Literature Jun 22 2019 In the field of Translation Studies no book-length work in English has yet been dedicated to the translation and circulation of migration literature. The authors of this volume seek to contribute to filling this gap through a detailed study of texts belonging to a variety of literary genres and engaging with the phenomenon of migration in different parts of the world. Not only will the challenges met by translators be discussed, but the different ways in which the translated texts travel from one cultural sphere to another will also be explored. The focus lies on the themes “migration and politics”, “migration and society”, as well as “the experience of migration in words, music and images”.

The Social Conscience of Latin American Writing Oct 26 2019 Literature in Latin America has long been a vehicle for debates over the interpretation of social history, cultural identity, and artistic independence.

Indeed, Latin American literature has gained international respect for its ability to present social criticism through works of imaginative creation. In this comprehensive, up-to-the-minute survey of research and opinion by leading Latin American cultural and literary critics, Naomi Lindstrom examines five concepts that are currently the focus of intense debate among Latin American writers and thinkers. Writing in simple, clear terms for both general and specialist readers of Latin American literature, she explores the concepts of autonomy and dependency, postmodernism, literary intellectuals and the mass media, testimonial literature, and gender issues, including gay and lesbian themes. Excerpts (in English) from relevant literary works illustrate each concept, while Lindstrom also traces its passage from the social sciences to literature.

The Cambridge History of Latin American Literature Nov 27 2019 "Primary and vital resource for literary specialists, historians, students of all levels, and general readers interested in this period. Leading scholars write about diverse genres (narrative, essay, poetry, theater) and cultural interests and ideas (intellectual life, historiography, Viceregal culture, Mesoamerican indigenous peoples and cultures). Literature articles include analysis and discussion of canonic and previously marginalized authors and treat representative works, genres, and literary and philosophical currents. Extremely useful, well written, and interesting"--Handbook of Latin American Studies, v. 58.

Elite Squad Oct 07 2020 "Three brave members of Brazil's Special Police Operations Battalion (BOPE) are faced every day with a single duty: to derail the drug traffic inside Rio de Janeiro's numerous favelas (shantytowns). But a life in the this select cadre of highly trained military police is one forever at risk. Death is simply an every-day obstacle, enemies may just be those colleagues kept closest, and breaking the law is something often done to uphold it. Written by anthropologist and former Brazilian National Secretary of Public Security Luiz Eduardo Soares and two BOPE police cadets, Andre Batista and Rodrigo Pimentel, this brutally intense semi-fictional account of the authors' experiences in BOPE examines with painstaking candor the best and worst of human nature and enlightens readers on the universal weakness of government's inability to control a thriving underground industry."--BOOK JACKET.

The Fragmented Novel in Mexico Sep 05 2020 From Mariano Azuela's 1915 novel Los de abajo to Rosamaría Roffiel's Amora of 1989, fragmented narrative has been one of the defining features of innovative Mexican fiction in the twentieth century. In this innovative study, Carol Clark D'Lugo examines fragmentation as a literary strategy that reflects the social and political fissures within modern Mexican society and introduces readers to a more participatory reading of texts. D'Lugo traces defining moments in the development of Mexican fiction and the role fragmentation plays in each. Some of the topics she covers are nationalist literature of the 1930s and 1940s, self-referential novels of the 1950s that focus on the process of reading and writing, the works of Carlos Fuentes, novels of La Onda that came out of rebellious 1960s Mexican youth culture, gay and lesbian fiction, and recent women's writings. With its sophisticated theoretical methodology that encompasses literature and society, this book serves as an admirable survey of the twentieth-century Mexican novel. It will be important reading for students of Latin American culture and history as well as literature.

Barren Lives Sep 29 2022 A peasant family, driven by the drought, walks to exhaustion through an arid land. As they shelter at a deserted ranch, the drought is broken and they linger, tending cattle for the absentee ranch owner, until the onset of another drought forces them to move on, homeless wanderers again. Yet, like the desert plants that defeat all rigors of wind and weather, the family maintains its will to survive in the harsh and solitary land. Intimately acquainted with the region of which he writes and keenly appreciative of the character of its inhabitants, into whose minds he has penetrated as few before him, Graciliano Ramos depicts them in a style whose austerity well becomes the spareness of the subject, creating a gallery of figures that rank as classic in contemporary Brazilian literature.

Memories of Lazarus Feb 08 2021 These are the recollections of Alexandre—of his life, his death-in-life, and his ultimate death, as they are played out against the mobile tapestry of the valley where he was born.

The valley itself, in the backlands of the state of Bahia, Brazil, alternates at different stages in Alexandre’s consciousness between reality and symbol. It swings from a harsh regional specificity to become the panorama of all human life, its endless, eroding wind the devouring hostility of all environments and its pain the pain of every human being in the face of his own brutality and that of others. Throughout the novel Alexandre’s mind ranges from sharp awareness, through hallucination, to oblivion (“a man dies while alive,” says Jeronimo, his mentor), and back again as he experiences the violent, obtuse phenomena of life in the valley—his universe and ours. This latter-day Lazarus leaves the resisting hills and black sky once only, hounded by the valley dwellers who believe he has murdered his wife, her father, and her brother. Yet despite his awareness of the horror of the valley and his intuition of something beyond it, it is precisely his contact with the gentler existence to which he escapes that forces Alexandre to recognize his nature for what it is. Turning his back on a greater and more varied range of feeling and experience, he chooses the narrow ferocity of the valley, to which he returns to die the final death for which the earlier deaths have prepared him.

A World Without Hunger Jul 24 2019 An Open Access edition of this book is available on the Liverpool University Press website and the OAPEN library as part of the Opening the Future project with COPIM. Drawing on the rich personal archive of the geographer Josué de Castro, this book tells a new history of geography by following one of the twentieth century’s most influential and creative Brazilian intellectuals from the estuarine city of Recife to the halls of the UN, the chambers of Brasília, and exile amid the political fervour of the universities of Paris in 1968. This is the first English language book on the absorbing life of Josué de Castro. It follows modern anticolonial geographical thought in formation, re-reading Castro’s metabolic, humanist geography as the anchor of a utopian practice of freedom: the demand for a world without hunger. Starting from Castro’s life and work, the book offers new takes on the history of nutrition, translation in geography, Brazilian modernist art and practice in post-war internationalism, the radical geographical intellectual, the problem of the region in the Brazilian Northeast, and the birth of political ecology and critical environmental thought. At once a biographical intellectual history and a work of geographical theory, this innovative book tells the story of 20th century geography from a new angle and in new company.

Graciliano Ramos - o desarranjo interior e a estética da história Aug 05 2020 “Graciliano Ramos é um artesão”. Com essa sentença, Carina Lessa dá ensejo a um estudo minucioso de seis livros de Graciliano – Caetés, São Bernardo, Angústia, Vidas secas, Infância e Memórias do cárcere –, considerados pela pesquisadora romances movidos por uma mistura indiscernível de ficção e não ficção, representativos de um projeto literário em que forma e conteúdo se constituem, isomórfica e artesanalmente, em uma “estética da memória”. Um estudo de leitura sugestiva e criativa que vem ampliar o campo de visão crítica sobre um de nossos maiores escritores, entretendo também à leitura de sua produção romanesca e o diálogo com tantos outros textos da literatura brasileira e da literatura ocidental.

Die romance nordestina - Die Suche nach regionaler Brasilianidade in "Vidas Secas" (Graciliano Ramos) Jan 22 2022 Studienarbeit aus dem Jahr 2003 im Fachbereich Romanistik - Lateinamerikanische Sprachen, Literatur, Landeskunde, Note: Sehr gut, Universität Hamburg (Lateinamerika Institut), Veranstaltung: Einführung in die Literatur Lateinamerikas, 5 Quellen im Literaturverzeichnis, Sprache: Deutsch, Abstract: Die vorliegende Arbeit beschäftigt sich mit der Suche nach regionaler Brasilianidade am Beispiel des Romans „Vidas Secas“ von Ramos aus dem Jahr 1938. In der Zeit nach der Unabhängigkeit Brasiliens wurden in der Literatur mehr und mehr Versuche unternommen, sich von den Einflüssen der ehemaligen Kolonialmacht Portugal stilistisch und inhaltlich zu emanzipieren. Die Frage nach dem genuin Eigenen, dem typisch Brasilianischen - der Brasilianidade - wurde aufgeworfen auf. Zu zu dieser Tendenz kam hinzu, dass Brasilien ein extrem großes Land ist und starke regionale Eigenheiten aufweist. Mehr als hundert Jahre nach der Unabhängigkeit, während der Phase de sModernismo, fand der Nordostroman Eingang in die brasilianische Literatur. Die Charakteristika des Schreibstils hatten sich in ihm im Vergleich zu den Anfängen der Nationalliteratur deutlich verändert: Autoren wie Ramos versuchten, sich ihrem Land nicht mehr durch europäische (ergo fremde) Augen anzunähern, sondern aus der Perspektive seiner BewohnerInnen heraus zu schreiben. Brasilien diene nun nicht mehr als bloße Kulisse zur Betrachtung merkwürdiger Menschen sondern als eine thematische Achse, von der ausgehend Land und Menschen mitsamt ihren lokalen Eigenheiten möglichst realistisch beschrieben werden sollten. Der Roman „Vidas secas“ ist eineromance nordestinapar excellence. Die Protagonisten können als Urtypen des Sertão angesehen werden und ihr Schicksal steht für viele andere BewohnerInnen der Region.

Brazilian National Cinema May 02 2020 Brazilian cinema is one of the most influential national cinemas in Latin America and this wide-ranging study traces the evolution of Brazilian film from the silent era to the present day, including detailed studies of more recent international box-office hits, such as Central Station (1998) and City of God (2002). Brazilian National Cinema gives due importance to traditionally overlooked aspects of Brazilian cinema, such as popular genres, ranging from musical comedies (the chanchada) to soft-core porn films (the pornochanchada) and horror films, and also provides a fresh approach to the internationally acclaimed avant-garde Cinema Novo of the 1960s. Lisa Shaw and Stephanie Dennison apply recent theories on stardom, particularly relating to issues of ethnicity, race and gender, to both well-known Brazilian performers, such as Carmen Miranda and Sonia Braga, and lesser known domestic icons, such as the Afro-Brazilian comic actor, Grande Otelo (Big Othello), and the uberblonde children’s TV and film star, and media mogul, Xuxa. This timely addition to the National Cinemas series provides a comprehensive overview of the relationship between Brazilian cinema and issues of national and cultural identity.

There Were Many Horses Mar 24 2022 There Were Many Horses is considered one of the defining novels of Brazilian literature, winner of the Brazilian National Library's Machado de Assis Award and the APCA Award for best novel upon its debut in 2001, and this publication marks its English debut. A day in the life of São Paulo exposes the city for the diversity of all its inhabitants as the author describes in detail the scenes around him. It's May 9, 2000, and the city teems with life. The city is more than just traffic jams, parks, and global financial maneuvering. He deciphers every minute and second of the metropolis marked by human diversity—a mosaic of people from all over Brazil and the world marking the city's personality at the turn of the twenty-first century.

As vidas secas de Graciliano Ramos Apr 24 2022 Sabemos que uma obra de arte tornada pública não é mais de seu autor. Ela tem vida, o que permite um diálogo entre a obra e o espectador/leitor. Tendo ela um mundo próprio, diz algo para além do que pensava seu criador. A obra de arte possui um dinamismo inerente de tal forma que configura e reconfigura vivências. No caso de Vidas secas, não cabe aqui analisar a literatura de Graciliano Ramos, mas sim dialogar com o romance, com suas personagens que, uma vez criadas, ganharam vida própria, liberdade. Por isso, este trabalho não se atém à análise literária de Graciliano Ramos; a pretensão é fazer a hermenêutica do mundo de sua obra, buscando o não-dito, a saber, a voz do silêncio das personagens, o que não está dito explicitamente por elas, pelo narrador e, por detrás da criação, pelo autor.

Brazilian Cinema Aug 24 2019 From the documentary to the cinema novo and cannibalism, from Nelson Pereira dos Santos's Vidas Secas to music in the films of Glauber Rocha, this third, revised edition is a century-spanning introduction to the story of a medium that flourished in one of the most developed of 'underdeveloped' nations.

São Bernardo Dec 29 2019 A masterwork about backcountry life by one of Brazil's most celebrated novelists. Paulo Honório is a sometime field hand who has kicked and clawed and schemed his way to prosperity, becoming master of the decrepit estate São Bernardo, where once upon a time he toiled. He is ruthless in his exploitation of his fellow man, but when he makes a match with a fine young woman, he is surprised to discover that this latest acquisition, as he sees it, may be somewhat harder to handle. It is in Paulo Honório's own rough-hewn voice that the great Brazilian writer Graciliano Ramos, often compared to William Faulkner, tells this gritty and dryly funny story of triumph and comeuppance, a tour de force of the writer's art that is beautifully captured in Padma Viswanathan's new translation.

Los Ramos Nada Secos de Graciliano Aug 29 2022 Este trabajo fue escrito para demostrar que la parálisis de Fabiano, Vitoria y sus hijos, no es tanto, como la crítica canónica ha insistido, mero efecto de las relaciones económicas desiguales o el resultado de un ambiente inhospito que abruma los habitantes. Sus conflictos antes de ser luchas sociales, son generados y alimentados por las palabras que insisten en no sellar. Su carácter cambiante -de las palabras- no permite fácilmente un acuerdo y la comodidad animal. Y eso es el genio de Graciliano Ramos en "Vidas Secas," demostrando con su vida una poesía nada seca y rica de paradojas."

Borges and His Fiction Feb 29 2020 The acclaimed author of García Márquez delivers "a compulsively readable account of the life and works of our greatest . . . writer of fantasy" (New York Daily News). Since its first publication in 1981, Borges and His Fiction has introduced the life and works of this Argentinian master-writer to an entire generation of students, high school and college teachers, and general readers.

Responding to a steady demand for an updated edition, Gene H. Bell-Villada has significantly revised and expanded the book to incorporate new information that has become available since Borges' death in 1986. In particular, he offers a more complete look at Borges and Peronism and Borges' personal experiences of love and mysticism, as well as revised interpretations of some of Borges' stories. As before, the book is divided into three sections that examine Borges' life, his stories in Ficciones and El Aleph, and his place in world literature. "Of the scores of Borges studies by now published in English, Bell-Villada's excellent book stands out as one of the freshest and most generally helpful . . . Lay readers and specialists alike will find his book a valuable and highly readable companion to Ficciones and El Aleph." —Choice

Graciliano Ramos e a Novidade: o astrônomo do inferno e os meninos impossíveis Mar 12 2021 Apresento a Novidade, revista alagoana de 1931 que procurou combater chavões na política e na arte. Foram seus colaboradores: Alberto Passos Guimarães, Aurélio Buarque de Holanda, Aloísio Branco, Carlos Paurflio, Graciliano Ramos, Jorge de Lima, José Lins do Rego, Santa Rosa, Valdemar Cavalcanti, Willy Lewin.

Como os jovens desse grupo reagem ao sem novidades e foram chamados de meninos impossíveis, analiso uma cena de Sem novidades no front, de Erich Maria Remarque, e O mundo do menino impossível, de Jorge de Lima, percebendo no grupo elementos de modernismo, regionalismo, atualidade crítica e preocupação social. A partir de textos de alguns escritores do semanário, esboço seus perfis e apreendo sua postura crítica contra o lugar-comum de miséria, ignorância, violência e política personalista. Centrados nessas questões, sobressaem os textos de Graciliano Ramos na Novidade: o capítulo XXIV de Caetés e as crônicas Sertanejos, Chavões (inéditas em livro), Milagres e Lampião. Constituem a melhor expressão crítica da revista e deixam ver os impasses contidos em estereótipos, que o escritor combateu ao construir suas personagens. Estudo esses textos, vinculando-os a Nuvens e Os astrônomos (Infância) e, num movimento analítico-interpretativo de cenas e imagens centrais de S. Bernardo, Angústia e Vidas secas, busco a poética, essencialmente ética, de Graciliano Ramos. Desvelando o impasse do intelectual num mundo de violência, ele configurou, artisticamente juntos, os problemas sociais e morais de seus protagonistas, de modo a evidenciar, a um tempo, a ordem social iníqua, a necessidade de compreensão do outro e um sentido de vanidade de tudo. Esforçando-se por compreender as semelhanças e diferenças entre as palavras, as coisas e os seres, resistiu ao lugar-comum por meio da escrita literária.

Imagining Brazil Mar 31 2020 Imagining Brazil provides a comprehensive and multifaceted picture of Brazil in the age of globalization. Privileging diversity in relation to the authors as well as the manner in which Brazil is perceived, JessZ Souza and Valter Sinder have assembled historians, political scientists, sociologists, literary critics, and scholars of culture in an attempt to understand a complex society in all its richness and diversity. Rising from one of the world's poorest societies in the 1930s to the eighth largest world economy in the 1980s, Brazil is used as an example of globalization's impact on peripheral societies, exploring in new contexts the serious social problems that have always characterized this society. Imagining Brazil explores the connections between society and politics and culture and literature, creating an encompassing volume of interest to scholars of Latin American studies as well as those interested in how globalization impacts the varied aspects of a country.

Cartucho and My Mother's Hands Sep 17 2021 Nellie Campobello, a prominent Mexican writer and "novelist of the Revolution," played an important role in Mexico's cultural renaissance in the 1920s and early 1930s, along with such writers as Rafael Muñoz and Gregorio López y Fuentes and artists Diego Rivera, Orozco, and others. Her two novellas, Cartucho (first published in 1931) and My Mother's Hands (first published as Las manos de Mamá in 1938), are autobiographical evocations of a childhood spent amidst the violence and turmoil of the Revolution in Mexico. Campobello's memories of the Revolution in the north of Mexico, where Pancho Villa was a popular hero and a personal friend of her family, show not only the stark realism of Cartucho but also the tender lyricism of My Mother's Hands. They are noteworthy, too, as a first-person account of the female experience in the early years of the Mexican Revolution and unique in their presentation of events from a child's perspective.
