Local Contextual Influences on Teaching 2021 This volume is a collection of personal narratives and research findings by English language (ESL/EFL) teachers who found themselves, in one way or another, teaching in various contexts all over the world. The central theme throughout these narratives is how local factors played a role in their approach to language teaching in different ways. The contributors reflect on their practices and provide an engaging discussion about how they deal with curriculum and classroom organization issues within the local context. Readers can expect to learn and understand how ESL/EFL teachers in different contexts exercise their agency in teaching in a language classroom. These teachers, through their own unique stories, research findings, reflect on how they responded to local contextual factors such as the learning culture and school policies, personal beliefs and attitudes towards pedagogy, the sociolinguistic context of the school culture, and the wider sociopolitical context in which learning and teaching takes place. Since the narrative approach has been placed center stage in teacher education as a method and an objective of the contributors adopt the narrative form to reflect and discuss their instructional practice.

The Analytical Writing Sep 28 2019 In The Analytical Writing Adrienne Robins explains college writing as a process of discovery, as a series of strategies that any college student can learn to apply. All strategies in this text are based on sound theories of teaching writing and on the patterns of successful writers. Thinking and writing should not be separated, and presenting only the steps without the accompanying explanation of how they influence thinking would be of little more help than having no method at all. By using this text they will see as they plan, draft, and revise how their writing helps clarify their thoughts. This clearly written and engaging textbook is illustrated by real examples of student writing and appropriate cartoons. The second edition was revised and updated based on the large-scale evaluation of the first edition completed by professional students. The new edition reflects four essential values: recognizing the diversity of writing processes, the necessity of peer and teacher interaction with the writer on drafts, the integration of writing and reading, and appropriate uses of technology. Specific features of this second edition include: -new writing samples -new citation formats -updated library use chapter with technological guidance -concise paragraph chapter

Students enrolled in the courses for which these questions were written include nursing, midwifery, paramedic, physiotherapy, occupational therapy, nutrition and dietetics, health sciences, exercise science and students taking an anatomy and physiology course as an elective.
