Reflections in Poetry May 21 2022 "Reflections in Poetry" Reflections in Poetry was first thought about when I was working down in the Gulf of Mexico. Twelve hours a day five days a week I use to write during my lunch break or back at the motel. I put together some material in a legal pad and left everything in the Motel under the mattress. When I relocated back to Sumter, SC it was very hard getting started, with so many things on my mind. I asked God to give me the peace of mind that I needed to put my thoughts on paper. I stayed up one night until four in the morning writing. I needed that to get a lot of stuff off my chest and off my mind. I really enjoyed putting Reflections in Poetry together, it reflects on those that have passed on good people whose memories I'll always treasure and will never forget. Friends that I met over the years our paths crossed and we connected platonically. They inspired me in their own unique way to write about them in poetry. Reflections in Poetry are collections of treasured thoughts from my heart to yours. Enjoy Glendell Chatmon

Discovering the Brain Oct 22 2019 The brain ... There is no other part of the human anatomy that is so intriguing. How does it develop and function and why does it sometimes, tragically, degenerate? The answers are complex. In Discovering the Brain, science writer Sandra Ackerman cuts through the complexity to bring this vital topic to the public. The 1990s were declared the "Decade of the Brain" by former President Bush, and the neuroscience community responded with a host of new investigations and conferences. Discovering the Brain is based on the Institute of Medicine conference, Decade of the Brain: Frontiers in Neuroscience and Brain Research. Discovering the Brain is a "field guide" to the brain â €"an easy-to-read discussion of the brain's physical structure and where functions such as language and music appreciation lie. Ackerman examines: How electrical and chemical signals are conveyed in the brain. The mechanisms by which we see, hear, think, and pay attention â €"and how a "gut feeling" actually originates in the brain. Learning and memory retention, including parallels to computer memory and what they might tell us about our own mental capacity. Development of the brain throughout the life span, with a look at the aging brain. Ackerman provides an enlightening chapter on the connection between the brain's physical condition and various mental disorders and notes what progress can realistically be made toward the prevention and treatment of stroke and other ailments. Finally, she explores the potential for major advances during the "Decade of the Brain," with a look at medical imaging techniques â €"what various technologies can and cannot tell us â €"and how the public and private sectors can contribute to continued advances in neuroscience. This highly readable volume will provide the public and policymakers â €"and many scientists as well â €"with a helpful guide to understanding the many discoveries that are sure to be announced throughout the "Decade of the Brain."

Perfect Circle: The Story of R.E.M. Nov 22 2019 R.E.M., the most acclaimed American group of their generation, disbanded in September 2011 with their idealism and dignity intact. In this, the final edition of his best-selling R.E.M. biography, Tony Fletcher brings their story to a conclusion and explains what led this unique group to draw a curtain on their career. This Omnibus Enhanced digital edition of Perfect Circle includes a bonus multimedia discography charting every album and single of R.E.M.'s career, presented in chronological order through audio, video and imagery. Drawing on interviews with band members, friends, associates and business partners, the book follows R.E.M.'s upward trajectory from the seminal debut Murmur in 1983 to the 1990s when their albums Out of Time, Automatic for the People and Monster sold tens of millions, making them one of the world's biggest groups, to their final years together. Granted access to the group throughout their career, Tony Fletcher delves beyond R.E.M.'s renowned humility and social awareness, discussing fame, fortune and sexuality with the same keen eye he casts on the group's astonishing career and musical catalogue. The result is neither blind fan worship nor jaundiced critical cynicism, but a balanced and thorough telling of one of the most compelling rock stories of our time.

Article VIII Jan 17 2022 CHAPTER I Monday " Jeazel Pete is at it again. The investigation into the death of a local undercover agent continues. Wildfires are ravaging the west. The Vice President's ahead in the latest polls. And it looks like it's going to be clear for the weekend," the TV announcer said although nobody was really listening as the sound softly filled the almost empty hotel lobby. " We'll be back in two minutes with the details here on WKYT-27," he continued. I glanced down from the TV perched on the wall as the commercial began. " What channel is that in the room..." I asked the receptionist as I glanced at her name tag adding "...Debbie?" " That's channel eight, sir." " OK. I want to catch the weather." " $52.25 is your change and here's your key. Have you ever stayed here before, sir," she asked with a smile. I nodded in the affirmative and she continued. " Well good, you're in room 315, which is in the first building on the right when you come into the parking lot, it's the one next to the indoor pool. Check out is 12 noon. Enjoy your stay at the Cumberland Inn." I counted out my change like a miser and then picked up the key-card from the counter top. " Thanks " I said as I turned and walked out to the parking lot. As I glanced around I thought, man, this is a nice place, much nicer than I remembered. Double spiral staircase, baby grand...don't touch the keys, an elegant portrait of the founders, looking stately in their golden years, hung over the fireplace which had a mantle that must've been over a hundred and fifty years old. Upon the tables, strategically placed around the lobby, were books which had equally elegant, multi-colored bindings, all with a look of age that said, ' I've been here a while '. I don't know how I missed all this stuff the other times I had been here. But that was work and I was always in a hurry to check in and get to my room. As I walked through the double set of glass doors I saw a grounds keeper standing by my '85 Nissan pick up. He turned and looked at me and said, " Good Afternoon." " Afternoon...uh, Doug," I returned, glancing at his nametag. " I was just admiring your bumper stickers, you're sure getting around," he said motioning to the tailgate of my truck with his eyes and a slight movement of his head. " They look kinda new." On my tailgate were 11 bumper stickers indicating that I was a tourist. Some placed horizontally, some vertically and others at angles. The stickers appear to be placed haphazardly, but there is a grand plan to this madness. " Yeah." I chuckled. " I'm doing some sightseeing and I want to see if I can cover the whole tailgate before I head back home." That wasn't quite the truth, but he would never know. He chuckled like he understood why

I was doing it, but I could tell he didn't share my enthusiasm for my effort. "We've got some in the lobby, do you want me to get you one?" "Sure, I didn't even see 'em in there," I said. "I was too taken in by the setting. Man, this is a pretty nice place, especially for being so far in the middle of nowhere. What's the scoop here anyway?" "Well, it's actually owned by the college, Cumberland College that is, and one of the main focuses of the college is accommodation and comfort management. Hotel/motel management, you know," he said like I was having trouble understanding his meaning. "Most of the people working here are students working through the summer and getting some extra credits to boot." "That's pretty cool." I said as I nodded my head and looked him in the eye. "Let me get that sticker for you." He turned to walk into the lobby. I glanced at my watch and I thought about how badly I just wanted to get to my room. After what seemed like an hour Doug came struggling through the heavy glass doors. "That door is tough," he mumbled as he came through and walked up to the back of my truck where I waited for him. "We've got two of them, take your pick." "Gimme the one the says CUMBERLAND INN - KENTUCKY" As he peeled the back off he asked, "Any place particular?" "Yeah, right under the one for Niagara, up and down" I replied. I knew that he had no idea what pattern I was trying to achieve, but the way he said it, I sensed that he knew there was an underlying plan to this random disorder. I reached into my pocket and pulled out my wad of change from Debbie. From the crumpled bills I fished out the two one dollar bills and tried to iron out the wrinkles with my hand by pulling the bills, one at a time, through my first two fingers. After three or four swipes of each bill I handed them to Doug saying, "Thanks." "No, thanks," Doug said with a tone of genuine wholesomeness. I just had a feeling he was a country boy. But, I also sensed that he was a little embarrassed to take my gratuity. "Hey man, if you are going to make your career in the 'accommodation and comfort management' business you'd better get use to accepting tips. That's part of the fringe benefits of the profession, the perks, you know," I said as I looked at him trying to get him to take the money from my extended hand. I didn't want to make the kid feel bad, but I did want him to accept this tip. "Thanks," he said as he finally relented and accepted my money. It seemed like this was a big step for him. I could just imagine him being raised as a Boy Scout doing a good deed every day, running to the mailbox for his grandmother, helping a neighbor with farm chores, or shoveling the sidewalk and driveway for some unfortunate who could not do for themselves and getting the good feeling that comes from helping others in need. And here I was trying to force him to surrender that instilled kindness for a few measly bucks. "I'm Doug Chaster. If you need anything just let me know." He took the bills and stuffed them into his pocket without even counting them, or even looking at them. "OK, Doug," I said as I opened the truck door and sat behind the wheel. Through the opened window I said, "I'll be here for a few days, so I'll see you around." As I pulled out of the loading zone I heard a faint "Have a nice day," coming from Doug. I glanced at him and waved briefly saying, "Thanks!" That's one expression I hate. Half the time the sentiment seems false and, frankly, I don't know what to say in response. I don't feel right saying, "Have a nice day," because I don't know most of the people who say it to me, and frankly, I don't care if they have a nice day or not. The people that I know don't say that to each other. Usually the best I can get out in response is a feeble, "You, too." I slowly pulled through the parking lot looking at the rooms listed on the plaques located above each building's entryway. That was easy, but considering there are only two buildings it shouldn't have been that hard. I pulled into a parking spot that was isolated from the other four cars parked at that end of the parking lot. I glanced at my watch as I opened the truck door. That little encounter with Doug may have caused me to miss the weather on TV. I grabbed the straps to the two duffel bags in the king cab area of the truck. Pulling and tugging on them I struggled to squeeze them through the gap between the driver's seat and the door opening. They popped through and hit the blacktop with a small thud. I positioned the straps so that I could pick them up, sling them over my shoulder and have a free hand to pick up the zippered canvas bag I had in the bed of the truck.

Soulful Truth Telling Mar 19 2022 We were born from love. We can't live without love. To love and to be loved is all we're really here to do. Soulful Truth Telling is for every woman (and a few brave men) who has struggled to create and sustain the deep, soulful and lasting love she desires. Over time, we've come to believe some lies about love that are the very things keeping us from the love we desire. This is the stuff that nobody tells you about finding love. It's about disbelieving the lies we've learned about love and allowing a deeper truth to rise to the surface. It's about using our past experiences in love to help light the path towards our true desires. Truth is the single most important factor to creating the love we desire. Without the truth, we believe that our own stories about what has happened to us, rather than what has happened through and for us. Without the truth, there's nowhere to go and there's nothing to work with. You cannot grow fruit from a bed of lies and you cannot have a breakthrough in love based in half-truths. It is Soulful Truth Telling because disbelieving the lies and uncovering the real truth about love should feel more like wiggling a tooth loose rather than open heart surgery. Finding and creating lasting love has very little to do with what you're doing, what action you're taking and so much more to do with who you're becoming. And we never stop becoming. Soulful Truth Telling is your doorway to peace and clarity. Soulful Truth Telling is your key to healing and forgiveness. Soulful Truth Telling is your path to the love you desire and deserve.

Drinking from the cup of bitterness and hatred, stigmata of poverty. Did a dreadful beast emerge? Audaciously, with incredible courage. They called him Lucifer's baby, most people just called him little man, he had the courage to make it to the top of Lucifer's Kingdom, and he started to work for the mob, doing any and all that was asked of him. One of the women that took him in captivated him. Betty was his only friend, his joy. He loved her soulful, provocative, spellbinding body. He was under the impulse of her lust for sex. She was his peace. Only she, could he show love. To the world, he was a dreadful beast, brutal and dogmatic. For he was webbed in a curse of hell. His love for money took him from rags to tens of billions of dollars. However, he never forgot the little boys and girls like himself . . . if by some cruel oversight, you have not read "Webbed in a Blood Curse" then you will have a very uncommon pleasure in store for yourself. For you will walk in a desolate valley of poverty and material prosperity. For webbed in a blood Curse will make you visualize the unsightly and thought provoking peoples. Your heart will yearn for its 355 pages of pure action. Unsightly at its best. Just open the door to the souls in desolation. You will be able to see Lucifer's children and the graves yearning for their bodies, stigmata of Hell

Baby Bumps Jul 19 2019 From the author of the award-winning blog Snarky Mommy comes a book that will make every woman who has ever been pregnant pee with laughter (not that that 's hard). Wearing her highest heels and hottest pregnancy jeans, Amy Sprenger marches into her doctor 's office, beverage in hand, ready to finally see whether her baby is a boy or a girl. Sure, sure, this appointment is supposed to be about checking the health of the baby, but everyone who 's ever been there knows it 's really about looking for what lays, or doesn 't lay, between the legs. So when the doctor tells her she has an incompetent cervix, Amy becomes immediately offended on behalf of her reproductive organs. Is that just a politically correct way of saying her cervix sucks? Unfortunately, as she 's soon to learn, it 's a lot more than that. The only way to keep that baby from falling out on the sidewalk (probably in front of Starbucks) is for her doctor to stitch her cervix closed and for Amy to stay in bed for the next four months. Four months that are carefully detailed in this "memoir." A memoir that, while basically true, has been embellished with Amy 's signature brand of humor and hilarity. With more time off than a castoff contestant on "The Bachelor," Amy takes pen to paper and settles in for the ride. But instead of sitting around eating bonbons, she 's popping hypertension drugs to stave off preterm labor. And complications? Oh, she 's got your complications. She 's gut-rehabbing her house. Her mother moves in to care for her. Her husband takes a "mancation" while she 's stuck in the hospital. And every time she has a contraction, she 's convinced it 's The Big One. Living by the adage that laughter is the best medicine, Amy fumbles her way through a series of sometimes serious and usually embarrassing situations. And just to be clear, using a bedpan qualifies as both serious and embarrassing. "Amy Sprenger's foray into factual fiction is a hilarious (and sometimes poignant) look at high-risk pregnancy from her view at the end of the bed. Sprenger offers a fresh and funny voice that readers will love!" -- New York Times bestselling author Jen Lancaster

On that journey she meets a man that shows her what it means to be loved. Shortly after their marriage, Base Morgan was killed and Nelly didn 't have time to tell him he was to be a father...How could this keep happening to her? However, this tragedy would bring her to an ultimate love affair that would consume her and yet lift her to the realms of her dreams when she meets the man who would dedicate his life to her, secretly. Joe Barnatelli knew, the moment he first laid eyes on her, that she had to be in his life. He knew he needed to see her, to be near her, to hear her voice. He employed her, and shared his love. Nelly gave him her son. Joe took the baby as his own, although he carried the name of his father - J ' Dee Morgan. For Nelly and Joe, not to share love, not to make love would be the most difficult thing they would have to do. As the years went by they tried not to show any affection because Joe 's life was complicated. He was married to Alice and ' married to a family ' in Brooklyn; which supposedly was to run its businesses alongside Joe 's many enterprises. As much as he tried to stay away, problems would come up and as they arose, Joe dealt with them. There were attempts on his life. Men tried to destroy his family and his businesses. Meanwhile, Joe wanted to live a quiet life - which seemed impossible to achieve. With J ' Dee and his brothers, the Pyzaono 's, growing into men and with the friends he had made along the way, Joe became more powerful and the ' family ' in Brooklyn became more concerned. The Brooklyn Don waited until the time was right. He had a plan. He 'd turned the tables on Joe by using more kindness, to lure him closer. Don Cello 's wanted his plan to work so badly that he took a trip to Italy and invited Joe to travel with him. But...Don Cello was in for a surprise. And you 'll be too.
