Blokes on a Plane Sep 25 2019 Two elderly tourists become unlikely sleuths when the former mayor disappears and someone starts stealing landmarks in Windy Mountain. Enter the walkie-talkies and cow-camouflage trousers. As men in their eighties, Oodles and Wish-Wash would normally be the last people to worry their park bench partner is missing. Especially not now when they are busy planning an overseas trip to explore family history sparked by a DNA test. Blokes on a Plane is the follow-up novel to Lie of the Tiger in the funny Windy Mountain series. If you enjoy this one, Whitey and the Six Dwarfs (book 3), Blokes in Donegal (book 4), Blokes in the House (book 5), Who Knew Tasmanian Tigers Eat Apples! (book 6) and Who Knew Tiger Sharks also eat Apples? (book 7) await with many of the same quirky characters.

The Third Day, The Frost Dec 29 2019 Ellie and her friends have achieved more than they ever thought possible as an unarmed bunch of amateur teenage fighters. But it's not enough. The war wages on, their families are in captivity and their country is on its knees. Hiding back in Hell, the friends face a big question: what to do next? The gang have another success when they manage to rescue Kevin. He returns to them equipped with a new knowledge of explosives. Suddenly the question of what to do next becomes clear - launch an attack on the major enemy target of Cobblers' Bay. Can Ellie, Homer, Fi, Robin, Lee and Kevin really stage a major military attack on the enemy? And in their attempt to pull it off, what will they have to sacrifice? They have already lost Corrie and Chris; who else will the group have to lose in their desperation to defend their country? The Third Day, The Frost, draws the reader deeper into the struggle of these ordinary teens attempting to survive in extraordinary times. A tense and moving read that will stay with you forever.

A Killing Frost Dec 21 2021 The Australian YA adventure trilogy "comes to a thrill-a-minute conclusion as the teen heroes continue their guerrilla tactics against totalitarian foes" (Publishers Weekly). It's been nearly six months since Australia was invaded and Ellie's life changed forever. Once normal teenagers, she and six of her friends are now trapped in a war zone where every moment is a struggle for survival. Living in the woods to evade capture, Ellie has become an expert in fear, hunger, sickness—and improvised explosives. Ellie and her friends are learning to fight back, attacking the army that stole their land, abducted their families, and destroyed their future. But to wage a war, they must strike their enemy where it hurts—and risk everything they hold dear. Concluding the story that began in Tomorrow, When the War Began and The Dead of Night, John Marsden "offers an unflinching look at living in war-torn Australia" (Kirkus Reviews).

Kar-Kraft Sep 29 2022 The story of Kar-Kraft began, as did many others in the automotive industry, with an axe to grind. In 1963, Ford was seriously interested in purchasing Ferrari. Ferrari was a legendary brand with considerable success in racing, and Ford saw the acquisition as a great way to be instantly successful in the racing arena. When Enzo Ferrari realized that Ford would not give him complete control of the racing program, he backed out of the deal late in the process. Ford had spent millions in vetting and audits, which then set in motion a vengeful response against Ferrari. The result was the unthinkable: Ford beat Ferrari at Le Mans. Ford wanted to become competitive quickly, but it did not have the race history or resources in house. To remedy the situation, Ford searched the U.K. for an independent company to help accelerate its race car development. It first settled on Lola Cars and set up Ford Advanced Vehicles. Later, Ford brought its LeMans effort to the U.S. and the Kar-Kraft relationship was established. Although Kar-Kraft was technically an independent company, it really only had one customer: Ford Special Vehicles. Kar-Kraft's story doesn't begin and end with the GT 40 that took the win away from Ferrari at Le Mans. Ford expanded under the program and organized an all-out assault on racing in general. Cars were prepared for Trans-Am, NASCAR, NHRA, and Can-Am competition. Street versions of the Boss 429 were assembled under its roof. And fabled prototypes including the LID Mustang, Boss 302 Maverick, and Mach 2C were all assembled in Ford's contracted race shop. And then, out of the blue, its doors closed for good on a cold day in 1970. History tells us that Ford won Le Mans, the Daytona 500, and the Trans-Am championship. But it doesn't tell us how this was accomplished. Author Charlie Henry (a former Kar-Kraft employee) has enlisted the help of many of his former co-workers to bring you the very first book ever published on Ford's all-encompassing special projects facility, Kar-Kraft. p.p1 {margin: 0.0px 0.0px 0.0px 0.0px; font: 12.0px Arial}

The Potato Thief Oct 26 2019 Three old men hope to trace their roots and claim an inheritance in mother Ireland. Not everything goes to plan! 1. BLOKES ON A PLANE Two old-age pensioners go from being unlikely tourists to unlikely sleuths when the former mayor disappears and someone starts stealing landmarks in the little town of Windy Mountain in Tasmania. These octogenarians are supposed to be planning their trip to Ireland to retrace family roots. But it's time to break out the walkie-talkies and cow-camouflage trousers. 2. WHITEY AND THE SIX DWARFS Even when they're not there, the old men are complicating things. Find out how in this funny whodunnit. Oodles, Wish-Wash and The Mayor have gone to Ireland to research family history, and have washed their hands of the Tasmanian Tiger Museum. But the new owners are thrown into a puzzle after a garden ornament goes missing. The clues include a skeleton, a chess set, and a concrete marsupial with a secret pouch. The old men are no help. In fact, their emails just muddy the waters. 3. BLOKES IN DONEGAL The old men think they're flying to Ireland to trace family history and to inherit a castle. The reality is very different. It seems St Patrick was so busy chasing the snakes out of Ireland, he overlooked riding the country of Tasmanian Tigers. Or did he?

Sydney Noir Jun 02 2020 Australia's largest city "provides fertile ground for dark doings, as these 14 tales demonstrate . . . [a] cavalcade of crime Down Under" (Kirkus Reviews). Includes Kirsten Tranter's Edgar Award-nominated "The Passenger" Akashic Books continues its award-winning series of original noir anthologies, launched in 2004 with Brooklyn Noir. Each book comprises all new stories, each one set in a distinct neighborhood or location within the respective city. Now, "Sydney Noir brings together 14 compelling short stories by established and emerging Australian authors, each offering a startling glimpse into the dark heart of Sydney and its sprawling suburbs" (Sydney Morning Herald, Australian edition review). This anthology includes brand-new stories by Kirsten Tranter, Mandy Sayer, John Dale, Eleanor Limprecht, Mark Dapin, Leigh Redhead, Julie Koh, Peter Polites, Robert Drewe, Tom Gilling, Gabrielle Lord, Philip McLaren, P.M. Newton, and Peter Doyle. Shortlisted for the Danger Award presented by BAD: Sydney Crime Writers Festival Included in CrimeReads's Most Anticipated Crime Books of 2019 "Akashic delivers another impeccable anthology with Sydney Noir, a deep dive into the mean streets, artistic outlets, and sultry demimonde of Australia's largest (and liveliest) city."—CrimeReads "The 14 uniformly strong selections feature familiar subgenre figures: gangsters, ethnically compromised cops, and people bent on revenge for the loss of a loved one . . . Fans of dark crime fiction will want to seek out other works by these contributors, most of whom will be unfamiliar to American readers."—Publishers Weekly "Here is a tough but tender vision of multicultural working-class Australia, with all its wards and anxieties."—Australian Book Review

Scavengers Apr 24 2022 Mike Crowe doesn't believe in ghosts, but it seems there's one ghost that believes in him. Can he escape the attention of a psychopath long enough to help her? A not-exactly legal PI, Crowe is blackmailed into tracking down a serial killer known as The Scavenger. At the same time, he finds himself increasingly plagued by visions - and eventually visitations - of a young girl he failed to save from being murdered a decade before. Are these things connected? Crowe must scavenge through the debris of a world going to pieces around him - at first just to survive and then to find the answers to questions he'd rather hadn't been asked. 'Scavengers is smart, dark, riveting crime fiction at its best. This is Hood at the top of his game.' - Kaaron Warren, author of The Thief Hole, Into Bones Like Oil, and Tide of Stone.

Different Stripes Aug 24 2019 If the Tasmanian Tiger really is extinct, how come it won't go away in this bundle of six amusing novels? 1. LIE OF THE TIGER Windy Mountain is a one-dog town because of a law the mayor rammed through years ago. But it's a law two funny old men will need to break. When a frighteningly familiar Irishman arrives to take charge of the Tasmanian Tiger Museum, he discovers the last manager left the building in a coffin - and the owners really don't want him to succeed anyway. So if Oodles and Wish-Wash can't help him, Paddy is on a hiding to nothing. 2. BLOKES ON A PLANE When the nasty old mayor disappears, someone starts stealing local landmarks from the quirky little town, and no one else seems to be overly concerned, two old men go from being unlikely tourists to unlikely sleuths. Enter the walkie-talkies and cow-camouflage trousers. Octogenarians Oodles and Wish-Wash would normally be the last people to worry the former mayor is missing. Especially not now when they are busy planning an overseas trip to explore family history sparked by a DNA test. 3. WHITEY AND THE SIX DWARFS Even when they're not there, the old men are complicating things. Find out how in this funny whodunnit. Oodles, Wish-Wash and The Mayor have gone to Ireland to research family history, and have washed their hands of the Tasmanian Tiger Museum. But the new owners are thrown into a puzzle after a garden ornament goes missing. The clues include a skeleton, a chess set, and a concrete marsupial with a secret pouch. The old men are no help. In fact, their emails just muddy the waters. 4. BLOKES IN DONEGAL St Patrick might have been so busy chasing snakes that he overlooked banishing Tasmanian Tigers from Ireland. This might explain how one ends up under the kitchen sink in the fourth book of the Windy Mountain series, which is more crazy mystery than cozy mystery. The three old men think they are flying to Donegal to trace family history and to inherit a castle. It ends in laughs and tears. Who knew Donegal has quirky characters, too? 5. BLOKES IN THE HOUSE Nobody warned the three old men that hitmen and Tasmanian Tigers were going into lockdown with them! The former mayor is 82, and not on speaking terms with the former town drunk, 83, and one of his former council employees, 85. So when they're forced to isolate in a small house together for three months to stay safe from the pandemic, there is bound to be friction. But while the old mayor resigns himself to a future of face masks, hand-sanitiser and a life of much less luxury than he is used to in the company of two buffoons he didn't even want to see again, he gets some very unpleasant surprises 6. WHO KNEW TIGER SHARKS ALSO EAT APPLES? When someone threatens to spoil Christmas by demolishing the town's Art Deco cafe, it's time to take sides. The proposed replacement is an ugly commercial building that would tower over the district. More crazy mystery than cozy mystery, the quirkiness of this funny series goes to a new level when a Tiger Shark surfaces. The three old men are at each other's throats yet again, this time over the proposed development. But they have a new umpire. He is someone who has earned an infamous reputation in Windy Mountain before, but he returns in a surprising new role.
