Ice And Secrets Oct 21 2021 A melting glacier, a wild river, gold, and a killer on the prowl... again. Lying on the tundra, the churning blades of the helicopter above her, Lane can't believe her best friend wants her dead. She planned to share the gold. They think they have the proper coordinates... they don't. She's injured but not bleeding. Blood would bring bears. When she tries to rise and walk out, the wolves gallop toward her. No one is getting the gold. Micha saw them push the woman from the hovering chopper. Out hunting with his wolf-hybrids, this is an unexpected complication in his life. He stays as far from civilization as he can get. His dogs are illegal. If caught, the state will euthanize the dogs and he'll be in trouble. Still, he can't leave her here for bear bait.

Identity Envy Wanting to Be Who We're Not

Aug 26 2019 Gay men and lesbians present humorous and hard-hitting accounts of the need to belong . . . somewhere Why would a lesbian raised in a Jewish home have a sudden desire to be a tough-talking Catholic girl? And why would a gay man travel to Ireland in a desperate attempt to escape his "hillbilly" roots? Identity Envy—Wanting to Be Who We're Not explores the connections gay men and lesbians have to religions, races, ethnicities, classes, families of origin, and genders not their own. This unique anthology takes both humorous and serious looks at the identities of others as queer writers explore their own identity envies in personal essays, memoirs, and other creative nonfiction. Gay men, lesbians, bisexuals, transgendered, intersex, and other sexual minorities often feel marginalized by mainstream culture and have a need to belong somewhere, to claim a group as their own. This surprising book presents stories of identity envy that are humorous and hard-hitting, poignant and provocative, written with energy, wit, and candor by many of your favorite writers-and some exciting newcomers. Identity Envy—Wanting to Be Who We're Not includes: Gerard Wozek's King Fu-infused "Chasing the Grasshopper" Max Pierce's fantasy of being a “Child Star” that helped him through a troubled family life Lori Horvitz’s “Shiksa in my Living Room” D. Travers Scott’s “EuroTex” Perry Brass’s “A Serene Invisibility: Turning Myself into a Christian Girl” Jim Tushinski’s ode to Lost in Space, “The Perfect Space Family” Al Cho’s unlikely identification with Laura Ingalls Wilder characters, “Farmer Boy” Irish-American John Gilgun wishes he could be one of those “Italian-American Boys” Joan Annsfire rejects her Jewish heritage to become Catholic schoolgirl Corinne O’Donnell in “The Promise of Redemption” Andrew Ramer’s “Tales of a Male Lesbian” city slicker Mike McGinty’s life with the cattle folk, “You Picked a Fine Time to Leave Me, Helen” and much more! Identity Envy—Wanting to Be Who We’re Not is a must-read for anyone who appreciates good writing—especially gay and lesbian readers who know what it’s like to wish you were someone else.

Ozarks Lite Aug 07 2020 Ozarks Lite is a story prompted by my travels. These are the experiences based on my retiring and moving to a rural setting, where I learned to build a house, and more importantly, a home. John Hanks follows some of the same paths. A journey that had as many false starts as it did happy destinations. Starting from the despair of losing his wife to cancer and trying to escape it by going to check out a property inherited from a nearly forgotten aunt, John finds a new interest in life. Getting accustomed to the culture of the rural Ozarks, learning to build, to do things for himself, re-discovering love and passion; all lead him toward joy. Building a home is one of his first trials and he manages to survive it with the help of local folk. Finding companionship is a dangerous task. One he doesn't feel competent to take on. A gay business woman and a waitress help him cope. Still, there is risk. But with the promise of a good life.

Hope Is A Faraway Place Jul 30 2022 Life is rarely what we want it to be, that is something we can know for a certainty. Sometimes it takes twists and turns that drag us into places that we never thought we would see. So it was for Dewey, James and their mother, Belinda. This is the story of a few people put to tests that made them doubt that there was ever any hope in their future. However, the funny thing about a future is that it has so many curves, mountains and valleys in it that we cannot truly see what really is there; and Hope can be a faraway place. We see, instead, sometimes what seems to be close up and hopeless. Can a simple photo of two

Why does a Federal Judge intervene in a set of lives three thousand miles away? Why does the mere existence of Belinda, Dewey and James threaten the structure of a county government that they have left far behind?
