Poetry, Politics and Possibilities Aug 10 2020 About The Book Here are samples from a lifetime of reading and writing and teaching classical and contemporary poetry and literature with deep interests in history, philosophy and psychology and religions. These poems have visions that we hope invite your attention. In Poetry Nan has some fun with commonly revered icons and received forms and formations, and finally seduces her favorite poet. In Politics she ridicules the tawdry immorality of international spies, popular journalism and petty racism. Back to School remembers high times with her remarkable students. In The City takes us to some of the foolishness of jury selections, and her thrall in city scenes. In The Country we read of some poignant bucolic experiences she loves, joyful and sad, and Head and Heart expresses Nan's personal concerns: interactions with friends, lovers, political actions, religion and hope. The story Church Fair exposes the interactions of a gang of church congregants at a fundraising event in a squabble over worthless secondhand merchandise. Daddy is a short-short story that is taken from a real account in the Los Angeles Tribune.

Peter Hujar Nov 12 2020 Peter Hujar was a leading figure of the downtown New York scene of the 1970s and '80s. He is most well-known for his portraits of New York City's artists, musicians, writers, and performers, which feature characters such as Susan Sontag, William S. Burroughs, David Wojnarowicz, and Andy Warhol, and was admired for his completely uncompromising attitude toward work and life. Hujar was a consummate technician, and his portraits of people, animals, and landscapes, as well as his documentation of the HIV/AIDS epidemic, with its exquisite black-and-white tonalities, were extremely influential. Underappreciated during his lifetime, Hujar is now a revered icon of the lost downtown art scene, and his photographs are held in permanent collections around the world. Over 160 photographs are gathered in Peter Hujar: Speed of Life. Published alongside a major touring exhibition, this collection presents Hujar's famous portraiture as well as his lesser-known projects. Accompanied by texts by Philip Gelter, Steve Turtell, and Joel Smith, this survey provides a thorough history of Hujar's life and artistic practice.
