Shea Stevens Outlaw Biker Dec 19 2021 She tried to put her criminal past behind her. It didn't take. Shea Stevens grew up in the world of outlaw bikers. Her father was the president of a local biker gang until he went to prison for murdering her mother. After a brief stint in prison herself, Shea has tried to make an honest living in rural Arizona building custom motorcycles. But life keeps pulling her back into a world of guns, drugs, and violence. Fans have described this series as Sons of Anarchy meets The Girl with the Dragon Tattoo. Pull on your leathers, twist the throttle, and enjoy this thrilling four-volume collection of gritty action crime thrillers from groundbreaking queer author Dharma Kelleher that will keep you turning the pages into the wee hours. Iron Goddess - Book 1 She'll risk it all for a niece she's never met. Eight years after getting out of prison, Shea Stevens is estranged from her outlaw biker family and has her own business building custom motorcycles. But her new new life is about to be disrupted by the shadow of her past. When her niece is kidnapped, Shea's sister shows up begging for help. Although she's never met the missing girl, Shea is ready to risk her freedom and her life to save her. Family is still family. As Shea launches herself back into the criminal underworld of Arizona's high desert in search of her niece, she rediscovers the reasons why she fled the outlaw biker world so many years before as well as her own long-buried secret. Can she recover the girl in time? And what will her loyalty cost her? Snitch - Book 2 Would You Rat Out A Friend To Stay Out of Prison? Shea Stevens thought she'd shut the door on the chaos and violence of her past. But her new life of building motorcycles and raising her orphaned niece is about to be disrupted. When college students start dying from ecstasy laced with rat poison, an all-but forgotten deal Shea struck with the cops comes back to haunt her. She must either infiltrate the Athena Sisterhood, a women's biker club suspected of dealing the drugs, or she'll be sent back to prison. As if becoming a snitch isn't bad enough, Shea learns that the Athena Sisterhood is embroiled in a turf war with the her father's outlaw biker gang. Shea's allegiances are tested as the violence between the clubs escalates and the troubling truth about the deadly drugs emerges. Will Shea choose loyalty over justice? And what will her ultimate decision cost her? Blood Sisters - Book 3 Are Some Secrets Worth Dying For? Shea Stevens and the Athena Sisterhood Motorcycle Club agree to protect a troubled woman from a state senator who will do anything to conceal a dark secret. The situation turns deadly when the powerful politician pulls some strings the Sisterhood didn't anticipate. Shea and the Sisterhood are forced to call in old favors to stem the violence and protect the woman and their own. Will it be enough to keep the high desert streets of rural Arizona from running red with blood? Road Rash - Book 4 How Do You Save Someone Who Doesn't Want To Be Saved? After a minor motorcycle accident, lesbian biker Shea Stevens wants to recuperate at home with her girlfriend and work on a design for a new custom motorcycle. But when Megan, the adult daughter of a friend, disappears into a suspected cult in Sedona, Arizona, Shea goes undercover as a prospective recruit to bring the young woman home. When Shea discovers what's really going on, her suspicions turn to outrage. But saving Megan could send Shea back to prison for decades. Does she save the Philosophical Issues of Human Cyborgization and the Necessity of Prolegomena on Cyborg Ethics Sep 23 2019 We are currently living in an age of scientific humanism. Cyborgs, robots, avatars, and bio-technologically created beings are new entities that exist alongside biological human beings. As with many emerging technologies, many people will find the concept foreign and frightening. There is a strong possibility that these entities will be mistreated.

Philosophical Issues of Human Cyborgization and the Necessity of Prolegomena on Cyborg Ethics discusses the ethics of human cyborgization as well as emerging technologies of robots and avatars that exhibit human-like qualities. The chapters build a strong case for the necessity of cyborg ethics and protocols for preserving the vitality of life within an ever-advancing technological society. Covering topics such as cyborg hacking, historical reality, and naturalism, this book is a dynamic resource for scientists, ethicists, cyber behavior professionals, students and professors of both technological and philosophical studies, faculty of higher education, philosophers, AI engineers, healthcare professionals, researchers, and academicians.

Gardens and Neighbors Jan 28 2020 "Gardens and Neighbors will provide an important building block in the growing body of literature on the ways that Roman law, Roman society, and the economic concerns of the Romans jointly functioned in the real world." ---Michael Peachin, New York University As is increasingly true today, fresh water in ancient Italy was a limited resource, made all the more precious by the Roman world's reliance on agriculture as its primary source of wealth. From estate to estate, the availability of water varied, in many cases forcing farmers in need of access to resort to the law. In Gardens and Neighbors: Private Water Rights in Roman Italy, Cynthia Bannon explores the uses of the law in controlling local water supplies. She investigates numerous issues critical to rural communities and the Roman economy. Her examination of the relationship between farmers and the land helps draw out an understanding of Roman attitudes toward the exploitation and conservation of natural resources and builds an understanding of law in daily Roman life. An editor of the series Law and Society in the Ancient World, Cynthia Jordan Bannon is also Associate Professor of Classical Studies at Indiana University, Bloomington. Her previous book was The Brothers of Romulus: Fraternal Pietas in Roman Law, Literature, and Society (1997). Visit the author's website:

Reading Roman Friendship Dec 27 2019 This book invites us to approach friendship not as something that simply is, but as something performed in and through language. Roman friendship is read across a wide spectrum of Latin texts, from Catullus' poetry to Petronius' Satyricon to the philosophical writings of Cicero and Seneca, from letters exchanged by the Emperor Marcus Aurelius and his beloved teacher Fronto, to those written by men and women at an outpost in northern Britain. One of the most innovative features of this study is the equal attention it pays to Latin literature and to inscriptions carved in stone across the Roman Empire. What emerges is a richly varied and perhaps surprising picture. Hundreds of epitaphs, commissioned by men and women, citizens and slaves, record the commemoration of friends, which is of equal importance to understanding Roman friendship as Cicero's influential essay De amicitia.

International Industrial Networks and Industrial Restructuring in Central and Eastern Europe Aug 27 2022 International Industrial Networks and Industrial Restructuring in Central and Eastern Europe analyses the role of international industrial networks in industrial restructuring and corporate growth in central Europe, Russia and Ukraine. It shows that two distinct patterns of international industrial integration - domestic vs. foreign led modernisations - have developed in these two regions which have significant effects on patterns of growth and integration of these economies. International Industrial Networks and Industrial Restructuring in Central and Eastern Europe is based on a number of industry and firm case studies which are analysed and interpreted within the current international business and political economy literature. The publication provides valuable insights to managers and policy-makers who are interested in understanding different strategic options for business activity in Central and East European countries. For the academic reader, it offers a new perspective on international, industrial networks in which theories on strategic management and on industry restructuring and corporate growth are merged into a new view of growth and transformation process.

Architectural Restoration and Heritage in Imperial Rome Jul 02 2020 This volume addresses the treatment and perception of historic buildings in Imperial Rome, examining the ways in which public monuments were restored in order to develop an understanding of the Roman concept of built heritage. It considers examples from the first century BC to the second century AD, focusing primarily on the six decades between the Great Fire of AD 64 and the AD 120s, which constituted a period of dramatic urban transformation and architectural innovation in Rome. Through a detailed analysis of the ways in which the design, materiality, and appearance of buildings - including the temple of Jupiter Capitolinus and hut of Romulus - developed with successive restorations, the case is made for the existence of a consistent approach to the treatment of historic buildings in this period. This study also explores how changes to particular monuments and to the urban fabric as a whole were received by the people who experienced them first-hand, uncovering attitudes to built heritage in Roman society more widely. By examining descriptions of destruction and restoration in literature of the first and second centuries AD, including the works of Seneca the Younger, Pliny the Elder, Martial, Tacitus, and Plutarch, it forms a picture of the conflicting ways in which Rome's inhabitants responded to the redevelopment of their city. The results provide an alternative way of explaining key interventions in Rome's built environment and challenge the idea that heritage is a purely modern phenomenon.

The Augustan Succession Mar 30 2020 "This commentary pays close critical attention to Dio's historical sources, methods, and assumptions as it also strives to present him as a figure in his own right. During a long life (ca. 164-after 229), Dio served as a Roman senator under seven emperors from Commodus to Severus Alexander, governed three Roman provinces, and was twice consul."--BOOK JACKET.

Impact Investment Funds for Frontier Markets in Southeast Asia Sep 04 2020

Until now, most socially responsible and impact investments have centred on developed markets, with growth potential and investment opportunities in the frontier economies of countries such as Cambodia, Laos, Myanmar, and Vietnam being mostly overlooked. While some individuals and organizations have begun to develop responsible investment opportunities with these countries in mind, large new sources of capital for development could still emerge. This book explores the greater potential for global investment in Southeast Asia, and the ways in which socially responsible investment styles can be used in their developing economies. It demonstrates how the benefits of investment could create a robust platform for separate stakeholders, including governments, non-governmental organizations, development banks, the financial sector, and small and
